EMSCO CELEBRATES 45 YEARS IN BUSINESS

Massillon, OH – January 6, 2022 – EMSCO, a world-class induction melting furnace and coil service, repair, and rebuild company, celebrates 45 years in business.

Since 1977, EMSCO has been the melting industry's first responder – dispatching mechanics, engineers, and account managers 24/7 to keep foundry furnaces running at optimum performance. Founded on the philosophy that customers choose suppliers who understand their needs, EMSCO's facilities in Massillon, Ohio; Anniston, Alabama; Pico Rivera, California and Rancocas, New Jersey are prepared for any customer request imaginable.

"I have used EMSCO for servicing my foundry furnaces for over 25 years," says Corey Jarvis, President/CEO of Trumbull Foundry & Alloy. "They are a company from top to bottom that has your melting furnace covered whether your backs to the wall or just your everyday needs."

With core expertise in engineering, manufacturing, and service, EMSCO covers all the bases in the foundry industry.

"It has been a successful 45 years for EMSCO, and we can't wait to see what the future holds for us," said Paul Wolanski, the Vice President and General Manager of EMSCO's North & West Operations.

EMSCO specializes in steel shell furnace rebuilds, vacuum furnace rebuilds, European style rebuilds, table mount furnace repairs and more. They have engineers that are available 24/7 for your critical induction furnace needs.

EMSCO is an Inductotherm Group Company, and more information can be found at emsco.com
